A VALENTINE.

(For the Louisville Journal.)

I met thee once and a dream
Of beauty o'er the soul will come
To linger with its haunting power
And brighten up its suffering hour
Like starry gleams of light
All radiant, though still but slight
For ne'er may we two meet again
Yet thou shalt be my Valentine.

And thy voice—amid a throng
Of careless strangers and among
The idle crowd 'twas but an eye
Met mine with aught of sympathy
The accents of one voice alone
Fell on my ear with friendly tone
Within my heart it echoes yet
A name—thou art not far from me
That kindly voice and eye were thine
And thou shalt be my Valentine!

I met thee once as stranger met
With cautious brow and coolly met
Was thy forgetfulness of me?
But I must ever think of thee!
At noon—at noon—at eve—at night
Thine image beams on memory's sight
When at God's throne I nightly kneel
A prayer for thee will gently swell
Forth from my heart to His throne—
And thou shalt be my Valentine!

ZINGARA.

RIVER AND STEAMBOAT MATTERS.

The weather since Saturday morning has been very cold and clear, and floating ice made its appearance in the river yesterday, which up to last evening had fallen about three inches, leaving nearly seven feet water in the canal, and three feet ten inches on the falls. We learn by private dispatches from St. Louis that navigation above that city is totally suspended, and that owing to the heavy running ice very few boats ventured to run below St. Louis.

For New Orleans.—The splendid boat David White and the A. L. Shotwell leave for New Orleans to-day. They are both boats of the first class, and in accommodations for passengers and fare are not surpassed. Capt. Elliott commands the Shotwell, and Capt. McGill the David White. The latter is newly furnished throughout. The White left New Orleans on Saturday morning week, and arrived here at noon on Saturday, and the Shotwell left New Orleans on Saturday evening, and arrived on Saturday night. Their attentive clerks have our thanks for favors.

The Fashion, Capt. Reed, arrived from Paducah on Saturday evening. To Mr. Sidney Reed, her clerk, we are indebted for a memorandum.
The Superior, Capt. Summons commander, and Mr. Dunning clerk, is the mailboat for Cincinnati to-day.

The H. D. Newcomb passed Memphis on Saturday evening, and is expected to arrive here on Tuesday morning.

FATAL AFFAIR.—An affray took place on Tuesday week at Vienna, Georgia, between Mr. Samuel Dawson, of Sumpter, and a son of Mr. Moulter, of Dooly, growing out of the public posting of Mr. Moulter, Sr., by Thomas H. Dawson, for alleged insult to the family of the latter. Mr. Samuel Dawson was posting the handbills for his brother, when Moulter, Jr., assailed him with a double-barreled shot gun, and inflicted a mortal wound. Dawson returned the fire, it is said, with supposed fatal effect. It is stated on private information in Savannah that Mr. Moulter, Sr., was also severely if not fatally injured.

The coroner held an inquest yesterday at Portland on the body of a man found floating in the river. He was heard to call for help, and two men went to his assistance in a yawl. He did not sink, and it is supposed he died from cold. Efforts were made to resuscitate him, but without avail. No one could tell how he came into the river. It is likely that he fell from a steamboat; as from his dress he had been a boatman. He was about 40 years of age, of medium size, had long black hair slightly grey, a beard under his chin, and from appearance was an Irishman.

HIS FATE.—John H. Mear, the companion of the late Dr. Gardiner in his frauds on the United States, since he obtained his portion of that plunder, has been a wanderer, and lost and squandered all his money. At length he became a trafficker in small wares, and took his goods from one place to another in the various trains of wagons that go through Mexico. A few weeks ago he was accompanying one of the trains from Naves to Monterey, and on the way they were attacked by the savages, and Mear, with his family and several other persons, were murdered.

The Journal of Commerce, in announcing with a flourish the accession of Hon. Rufus Choate to its subscription list, calls him "the Daniel Webster of the present day." We think our New York contemporary's judgment is as questionable as its taste. There is about as much resemblance between Webster and Choate as there is between a thunder-cloud and a bubble, or a rainbow and a ribbon.

A CHRISTMAS PRESENT that will be remembered and cherished and loved as long as life lasts. "The Plain Commentary on the Four Holy Gospels" is the richest treasury of profound Scriptural knowledge and of deep, fervent piety ever issued from the press. If you want your Christmas gift to be held always as a heart-treasure, give this book to your Christian friend. It is for sale at Ringgold's.

In our telegraphic dispatches it is stated that the house of Messrs. Hewitt & Co., New York, was destroyed by fire. A dispatch from there to Mr. R. Atkinson, says that they were "fully insured and saved their books."

The trial of James R. Marks (editor of the Bayou Sara Ledger) and his brother, Leon D. Marks, for killing Mr. Robertson (editor of the American Chronicle) last June, took place at St. Francisville, La., on the 8th, and both were acquitted.

Punch says that reading makes a full man, but fashion makes a full woman. This is altogether witty but only half true. Fashion puts a great deal about a woman but nothing in her.

CONCHA ABOUT TO RESIGN.—The Havana correspondent of the New Orleans Delta mentions a rumor that Concha, the Captain General of Cuba, had sent in his letter of resignation.

LATER FROM MEXICO.

The New Orleans Picayune has Vera Cruz papers, to the 9th, and from the capital to the 2d.

The most intelligence they contain is the surrender of Puebla to the Government forces, which took place on the evening of the 3d inst.

A dispatch from the Commander-General, dated Perote, 6th of December, and addressed to the Government functionary at Vera Cruz, says:
The town of Puebla has returned to the obedience to the supreme Government, and is now occupied by the troops and my command.
The rebels by means of a capitulation have surrendered to the Government, but the ringleaders, Orihuela and Miramon, have escaped. As it is probable that they will endeavor to leave the country through your port, I impress on you the necessity of redoubting your vigilance, and using every means for their apprehension.

The terms of the capitulation were not known in the city of Mexico on the 4th. The commanding General at Puebla, telegraphed to the Government, on the morning of the 4th, that an express was then starting with the conditions of the surrender. He also announced having occupied the surrounding heights, and was occupied in dispatching a strong brigade to operate against Guiterrez and Osollos.

The latter had moved towards Puebla a few days previous, with a force of 450 men, to support the beleaguered city.
The Estandarte, of Mexico, states that on the 22d ult. the police made a descent on a convent of San Jose. In consequence of subsequent revelations several arrests were made, among them a priest.

The popularity of the Lerdo law continues unabated, nor have the sales of property been checked by the rebellion at Puebla. According to a list published in the Monitor, the entire amount of sales has reached $1,432,818.93.

The British question, growing out of the Barron affair, it appears has been settled.

HOG KILLING.—The hog season is about drawing to a close. Hull, Hunt, & Co. will finish killing during the present week, and Hamilton, Ricketts, & Co. will close next week. Thomas & Co. expect to kill a thousand more, Owsley & Co. also one thousand, and Jarvis & Co. an indefinite number. There have been a few small sales of hogs during the week at prices ranging from $6 to 6 50—the inside rate for very light. In the market for the hog product very little has transpired. Mess. pork is held at $17, prime lard at 10 1/2, shoulders from salt at 6 1/2, and hams at 8 cents. The high rates demanded cause buyers to act very cautiously. The following is a statement of the killing this season up to last evening:

Killed.	In Pens.
Hull, Hunt, & Co.	58,075
Hamilton, Ricketts, & Co.	48,900
Atkinson, Thomas, & Co.	30,000
Jarvis & Co.	19,000
A. S. White & Co.	17,952
Owsley & Co.	16,765
Hamilton, Huffman, & Co.	15,357
New Albany (estimated)	24,000
	225,619

The killing around the Falls will probably reach 250,000, which is about the estimate made by us three weeks ago.
Quigley & Co., of Bowling Green, had killed 12,886 hogs up to Friday night last, with 4,000 in the pens.

SOUTHWESTERN MECHANICAL AND AGRICULTURAL ASSOCIATION.—At a meeting of the Board of Directors of the Southwestern Mechanical and Agricultural Association, held on Saturday, Dec. 20, the following resolutions were adopted:
Resolved, That Mr. T. Young be appointed a committee to call the attention of the citizens through the papers to the wish of the U. S. Agricultural Association to hold their next meeting at this city, and also to call a meeting of the citizens to exchange to ascertain what amount of inducements for an acceptance of our invitation.
Resolved, That T. Young be authorized to correspond with the President of the U. S. Agricultural Association to ascertain the conditions upon which they will hold their next exhibition on the grounds of the Society.
Resolved, That this Board, having seen Mr. G. Mallory charged in the Louisville Courier of this date, Dec. 20, 1856, with having introduced policies in their meetings, take this method of contradicting the charge, and assert that he has never been in any meeting of the Association, and to the subject of policies.

TO THE CITIZENS OF LOUISVILLE.
At a meeting of the board of directors of the Southwestern Mechanical and Agricultural Association, held on Saturday, Dec. 20th inst., a resolution was adopted appointing the undersigned a committee to call the attention of the citizens of Louisville to the wish of the United States Agricultural Association to hold their next meeting at this city, and also to call a meeting of the citizens, at the Merchants' Exchange, to ascertain what amount of inducements for the holding of the next exhibition of the United States Association at this place.

In conformity with this resolution, all of the citizens who take interest in the matter, are requested to meet at the Merchants' Exchange, corner of Main and Second streets, this evening, at 7 o'clock.

It can scarcely be necessary to urge upon the citizens of Louisville the importance of their prompt and energetic action in the premises and of their liberal support and kindly aid in effecting the purpose indicated. The location of Louisville is peculiarly favorable for the National Exhibition, and there is reason to believe that the officers of the United States Association desire to hold their next meeting at this point, but already very liberal premiums have been offered by other cities, and the co-operation of the citizens of Louisville is earnestly desired to offer such inducements as may be sufficient to secure the next exhibition of the National Association to this city.

The advantages to be derived from success in this effort are apparent. The finest stock from every section of the country will be brought together here. The agricultural and mechanical interests of the whole Union will be represented in the meeting. From 60,000 to 100,000 visitors will be attracted to this city from all the States of the Confederacy, and aside from the immediate advantage and profit which will be realized by every branch of trade and industrial pursuits, a new and powerful impetus will thus be given to the mechanical and agricultural interests of our city and State. It is hoped that every citizen will appreciate the great interests involved and will cheerfully lend his aid to the enterprise.

LAWRENCE YOUNG.
MORE NEGRO INSURRECTIONS.—A FREE NEGRO HUNG BY A VIGILANCE COMMITTEE.—EXTRA SESSION OF THE CRIMINAL COURT ORDERED.
The following is an extract of a letter received in this city on Saturday last from a reliable source. The letter is dated Cadiz, Trigg county, Kentucky, December 17th:
On yesterday a free (colored) man named Sol Young was hung at this place after having been tried by a Vigilance Committee which sentenced him to death. We have a number of negroes in our jail, some of whom will certainly be held here, commencing on Christmas day. The excitement is very high at this place, and will perhaps continue until some time in January.

ARRESTS.

A man named Guernsey, who hails from Cincinnati, was arrested on Saturday on a charge of stealing a coat from Sproule & Mandeville's store. Another man was arrested charged with stealing $36 from a boy.

A FELLOWSHIP JOKE.—The New Orleans Crescent says the Democracy have broken into the White House with a Jimmy.

NEW YORK, Dec. 20.

The steamship Black Warrior has arrived with Havana dates to the 15th inst. The papers furnish no important news. CHICAGO, Dec. 20.

A resolution was introduced into the Iowa legislature yesterday, instructing the Senators and requesting the Representatives to vote for the admission of Kansas as a free State, and against the admission of the same as a slave State. A substitute was offered by the Democrats for the immediate repeal of the obnoxious acts of the Territorial legislature, recognizing the right of Kansas to be admitted with a republican form of government, and expressing a confident hope that the people of Kansas would adopt a constitution prohibiting slavery. An amendment was offered to the effect that the power of the people to establish slavery or polygamy was not an essential exercise of the right of self-government. A vote was not taken.

A meeting was held at the new town of Grimdora, Kansas, on the 8th, to consider measures for the construction of a railroad from thence to Lawrence. The store of Messrs. Hewitt & Co., 49 Stone street, extensive floor dealers, was destroyed by fire last night. Loss $30,000.

TERRIBLE AFFAIR—Four Lives Lost.—One of those terrible accidents, which bring mourning and desolation to families, and sudden community with their sudden and agonizing calamity, occurred in Lexington on the 23d ult. On that day Oliver Montague, aged 22, Mitchell Montague, aged 16, Anne Montague, aged 10, children of Charles Montague, with the wife of Oliver, aged 21, crossed the Beaver Meadow Pond on the ice, after cranberries. Oliver with skates on, drawing the others on a hand-sled. On their return, the ice having been weakened by the warmth of the day, or they having taken a different course, where it was not strong, gave way, and all four were drowned before any assistance could reach them. One individual in attempting to aid them broke through and nearly perished before he was rescued.—Essex County Post.

ST. THOMAS, Dec. 3, 1856.

Arrived of Dr. Kane from England.—Probably it will be of interest to you to know that Dr. Kane, the Arctic explorer, has arrived at this retired little island. He arrived last night in the packet steamer from Europe, on his way to the Island of Cuba. His health appears greatly impaired. He caught a severe cold in Europe, and looks as if he was suffering from consumption. Dr. Kane remains here a fortnight; then he will proceed to Havana. He has been kindly received by all our resident Americans. It is to be hoped that the change of climate will be of benefit to his health.—N. Y. Herald.

Counterfeit.

A friend has shown to us a counterfeit $10 bill on the Panama Bank, Virginia, payable at the banking-house in Blackburg. It is a new bill, badly executed and filled up, but calculated to deceive some persons. The signature of Smith, cashier, and McFarland, president, are engraved. Also, a $20 counterfeit on the Bank of South Carolina, better executed than the other. The signatures of the cashier and president are engraved. We cannot make out the names.

EVENING BULLETIN.

MONDAY EVENING, DEC. 22, 1886.

THE HOME JOURNAL.—The Home Journal is about to enter upon a new volume. It is unnecessary to say one word in praise of this charming journal, but upon so tempting an occasion, we cannot forego the pleasure of saying just one word. We wish simply to state a fact and its philosophy. The Home Journal is the pink and pet of our exchanges. Its fair typography gleams out from the towering pile of newspapers upon our table like a violet smiling modestly from a stone heap or a daisy peeping from a snow bank. It sheds a sort of glory through our office. We turn from the harsh companionship of politics to its gentle columns as a lover turns from the frowns of the world to the smiles and blandishments of his mistress. It is as full of charm and solace as music or poetry or both combined. It affects us like a burst of sunbeams amidst wintry shadows. And so it affects everybody else. Now why is this? Its motto—that wise and eloquent sentiment of Goethe: We should do our utmost to encourage the beautiful, for the Useful encourages itself—explains the secret. The Home Journal encourages the beautiful, and is therefore beautiful itself, for the beautiful is encouraged by example and not by precept. Here is the spell. It is thoroughly and essentially beautiful. The sense of the beautiful is its animating principle, shaping its rich and various matter into beautiful forms, and grouping the whole in harmony with the "indwelling spirit." All perceive that the Home Journal is beautiful in its parts, but all may not perceive that it is more beautiful in its totality. Yet it is. Though unrivaled in variety and felicity of detail, it is still a unit, and as such expresses the beautiful in augmented richness and force. It is really the most artistic of journals. Its mere arrangement is an exquisite study. It is a beautiful every-day life poem, of which its score of departments are so many beautiful stanzas. It is altogether the highest and most complete expression of the beautiful to which journalism in either hemisphere has attained. It is worthy of the genius and genial accomplishments of its poet-editors. No wonder that it is our and everybody else's pink and pet of newspapers. May it live as long as the Apollo.

STANDARD EPISCOPAL SERMONS.—A valuable series of books is in course of publication by Hermann Hooker of Philadelphia. He designs to publish a series of volumes, of uniform and convenient size, containing selected sermons from the most distinguished divines of the Episcopal Church in the United States. Each volume will comprise the sermons of a single preacher, to be selected by himself from the whole body of his parochial teaching. Each, therefore, will contain the best thoughts of the best minds in the Episcopal Church of this country. The learning, wisdom, and eloquence which are enjoyed now by a few favored congregations will thus become common property.

The importance of this enterprise is very apparent. The sermons of the old divines are not accessible except in very expensive editions, and even if they were, their style is so unsuited to modern readers, and many of their topics are so foreign to the wants and exigencies of the present, that they are no longer adapted to popular use. The sermons of eminent living divines reflect the very body of the time.

The three volumes already published are filled with excellent sermons written in the most attractive style. The first is by Arthur Cleveland Cox of Baltimore, whose Christian Ballads have given him a high reputation in Europe, and which contain some of the sublimest religious lyrical poetry in the language. The second volume is by Dr. Alexander Vinton, the profound philosophic preacher of Boston. The third is by Dr. Robert Hallam, of Connecticut, practical, quaint, and full of originality. These works, though printed and bound uniformly, are not numbered as consecutive volumes, and are sold separately. They would be appropriate Christmas presents.

Divorces are greatly in vogue in Western Pennsylvania. About every man who has a scolding wife, and about every woman whose husband is uncongenial in temper, claims the right of separation and the privilege to marry again. Judge McClure, of the Common Pleas Court, in Pittsburgh, in dismissing some applications for divorces last week, said that there were about two applications to him a week for divorces, and that in most of the cases the parties pay no more regard to the solemnity of the marriage contract than to the purchase of an old wheelbarrow. If men married sharp-tongued women they would have to put up with them as best they could. He would not divorce a man because his wife was a scold. Look out, youngsters, and never marry a scold—or, if you are married, never give your wife a cause to scold.

DEATH OF DR. PUSEY.—The recent arrivals from Europe bring the intelligence of the death of Dr. Pusey, the most famous theological writer of the present century. He was the originator of the Puseyite or High Church party in the Church of England, and, though his early associate, Dr. Newman, and a vast number of his disciples, have gone over to Papacy, Doctor Pusey remained in the English Church. It is a little more than twenty years since he first created an excitement in the theological world by the publication of the Oxford Tracts, in which he maintained the theory of Church worship based upon the Apostolical succession, and attributed an efficacy to the ritual of the Church of England equal to that claimed by the Church of Rome.

Nicaragua.—A despatch from New York states that an expedition is fitting out in this city for Nicaragua. Five hundred men have already enlisted. They will land at Omoa, Honduras, where they will proceed to join Walker. A Nicaragua sympathy meeting is to be held in the Tabernacle in New York on Saturday night. The names of Gov. Price, of N. J., Ex-Gov. Smith, of Va., and Jones, of Tenn., and Senator Nash, Douglas, Mason, &c., are among those announced as speakers.

Destruction of Counterfeit Money.—Sheriff Clark, of Suffolk, has received from Charles B. Hall, Esq., Secretary of the Society for the Suppression of Counterfeit Money, and commenced the destruction thereof, in conformity with the law, a large amount of counterfeit bills, coin, plates, and moulds. The whole amount was nearly $50,000. About $18,000 consisted of bills on the Potomac Bank of Georgetown, which institution never existed. The rest of the bills were mostly counterfeit bills of various English banks. There were about thirty-one steel and copper plates engraved for bank notes, and some $200 in counterfeit coin, consisting of quarters, half, and whole dollars, Spanish milled dollars, gold dollars, and half and quarter eagles; also three plaster moulds for the casting of coin.—Boston Times.

The correspondent of the New York Tribune says: Thirty-two of the slaves arrested at Alexandria, Virginia, on Sunday morning last, on a charge of insurrection, have been fined and whipped on the bare back, fifteen lashes each, for assembling at a hall. Not the slightest testimony has been found against any one of them that they intended to create an insurrection.

The whites are armed and constantly on the watch, though it is asserted that there is no real cause to fear an insurrection.

CHINESE SUGAR CASE IN GEORGIA.—The prospects of extensive modification in the sugar culture of this country through the introduction of the Chinese Cane, grow more probable daily. Judge De Lyon has sent a specimen raised by himself at Harack, near Savannah, Georgia, to the editor of the Savannah Georgian, accompanied by an expression of his determination to go largely into the business the ensuing year.

TENEMENT HOUSES.—Twenty-five hundred houses are being built in Paris for the working classes. They are to be in groups of fifty, each group forming a square, with an open space in the centre. Each house to accommodate six families, at a rent of about $26 each. Each group is to have a public bath-house and bathing establishment.

A Philadelphia letter says: With each day's progress of the contested election trial, the disclosures assume a darker hue. Yesterday a large number of frauds were established point blank, and perjury was proved to have been openly and freely used to get in a vote, and violence threatened to such of the election officers as challenged the voters or scrupled to deposit the ballots. A custom-house officer was also proved to have stood by and witnessed these transactions, and participated in threats made against a judge of election who pronounced a vote fraudulent.

THE LATE EARTHQUAKE IN THE MEDITERRANEAN.—Letters from Rhodes of the 31st of October state that ever since the 12th of October slight shocks of earthquake have been constantly experienced at that island, causing great fear among the inhabitants.

Accounts from Canea, of the 27th ult., in the Portofoglio Maltese give further particulars of the frightful effects of the late earthquake in Candia. The official returns have been published. Of about 4,000 houses only nine remain uninjured. The deaths in the town numbered 600, and in the country more than 1,600. The number of wounded is not stated. The village of Ajo Miro was completely destroyed; of 200 inhabitants 50 were killed. The Turkish Government have caused to be erected 2,000 tents outside the city, and Mr. Woodward, English engineer, has been sent for to construct huts for those who have been deprived of shelter. There was, however, a great want of wood. It is said that Mr. Woodward will be desired to draw out a design for the new town, which will be built according to European ideas. The details of the catastrophe are very distressing. In one case a woman was discovered alive under the fallen ruins. She had been miraculously preserved by a beam falling in such a manner as to leave a small space, where she remained eight days without food before being discovered. During this time she gave birth to a child, which was also alive.

Another woman was being delivered when the earthquake commenced. The husband and three women who were attending her fled. On the husband returning after the panic was over, on removing the ruins of his house, he found his wife, with her child in her arms, alive in a corner of one of the rooms, which had only partly fallen in. During the awful moment she had been safely delivered. Some of the scenes are described as having been most tragic; fathers and mothers, in death or grievously wounded, clinging to their offspring, were discovered among the fallen ruins, and other scenes of domestic affection of the most heart-rending description presented themselves on the removal of the rubbish. The difficulty of properly interring the dead, from which already the most obnoxious miasma has arisen, has occasioned some fears that disease may be added to the cup of affliction of this unhappy country.

Malta has, ever since the earthquake, been deluged by rain. According to the Malta Times, 21 inches of rain had fallen from October 17 to November 16, and prayers for fine weather are being offered up daily in all the Roman Catholic churches of the island.

MELANCHOLY OCCURRENCE.—A Child Killed in the arms of its Mother.—A heart-rending occurrence took place in Stockport, Columbia county, N. Y., in which a child was killed while in the arms of its mother, and by her sister. Mrs. Dickerman was sitting in a room with her child, a boy of about two years of age, upon her lap, engaged in dressing it, while at the same time her sister, a Miss Platter, was cutting the wick of a candle with a pair of scissors. The sisters were engaged in angry conversation, when Miss Platter, in a fit of rage, threw the scissors at her sister with great force, the point striking the child upon his breast, penetrating to the heart. The innocent little one exclaimed, "Oh, mother! mother!" and immediately expired. Mrs. Dickerman did not see her sister throw the scissors, and was not conscious of what had been done until she saw the instrument of death planted in his breast. A coroner's jury was called, who, after a full investigation of the affair, rendered a verdict in accordance with the above facts. Miss Platter is now confined in the Hudson jail to await the action of the grand jury.—Albany Eve. Jour., Dec. 18th.

PHILADELPHIA, Dec. 16. This is the age of speculation, beyond doubt, and it has grown almost into a proverb, that all those busy denizens on 'Change, yeelp merchants and brokers, don't know, is not worth knowing. This, however, is a mistake. I doubt if there is not one article of speculative traffic which has escaped their lynx-eyed vigilance—defunct paupers! Let them own up promptly. The "article" is new in the market. And yet it is gravely charged here that a member of our "board of guardians" is engaged in the business. Yes, actually engaged in speculating in dead paupers! Only think of it.

A morning paper in the City of Brotherly Love adds its testimony to the unshaped rumors, and says "the member" of the Board first proposed to that body to supply a heavy demand for anatomical purposes which at present rules, but, failing there, entered into the scheme himself. The modus operandi is this: Chests have been prepared at the almshouse, large enough to hold a corpse, which are frequently observed to pass backwards and forwards. Their contents are not positively stated, but the "article" before alluded to, and which they are supposed to contain, is quoted at $30 per head, maximum price! That's all.

HAVANA, Dec. 9. A joint stock company is understood to have been formed at Havana for the purpose of extracting an oil from a species of soap-stone, said to be found in large quantities in a distant part of this island. The African slave trade seems to prosper, despite all the efforts made to check it. Scarcely a week elapses that we do not hear of African slaves having been landed in some one or other ports of the island.

Another contract is reported to have been entered into by a commercial house of this city, taking I know not how many thousands of Chinese from China to this island.

Homicide.—Mr. Hancock and Mr. Costlow, both of Allen county, quarrelled one day last week. Costlow followed up Hancock, threatening to whip him, and the latter, having a rifle in his hand, told him that if he did not go back he would shoot him. Costlow still persisted in following, and Hancock fired, the ball taking effect in Costlow's abdomen, killing him almost instantly. He leaves a wife and family to mourn his loss.

MARRIED. At Charleston, Ind., on the 21st inst., by Rev. R. Hammond, Mr. A. HAGAN, formerly of Maryland, to Miss S. M., only daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Peter Talburt, of Louisville, Ky.

THE SLAVE, CASE ONCE AGAIN.—Yesterday forenoon, according to assignment, the examination of Joaquin Negret, who is charged with being concerned in the slave trade, was continued before United States Commissioner Charles L. Woodbury. The District Attorney stated that he felt inclined to abandon the present prosecution and take means to have the prisoner indicted for perjury; and, on his motion, the examination was further deferred to Saturday next, and Negret was remanded to jail.

Since then, last examination for we have been enabled to glean something like a straight story out of the statements made by Negret, and we are inclined to believe that it is nearer true than anything yet told. Negret says that he was in Havana, out of business, and Signor St. DeMena, brother of Philippe St. DeMena, made him an offer; that he was to go to Boston and see Philippe, and make certain arrangements in relation to business. If successful, he would receive his equal bonus; if not successful, he would be paid $25 a month and found. He accepted the proposal and came to Boston, and, after having an interview with DeMena, they went to work, where they completed certain arrangements.

Negret then went to Wilmington, N. C., where he joined the brig Watchman, Capt. Blanchard. They made sail up the river to a steam sawmill, where they took on board a deck load of lumber, and a small quantity in the hold as a nominal cargo. While there, Philippe St. DeMena came, and in the night time brought on board the coppers, slave-shackles, and water-casks in shoeks, which they hid away underneath the ballast. At that time she had four Americans or Englishmen and four Portuguese, but DeMena telegraphed to Charleston, and eight more Portuguese came to complete the crew.

They then made sail for Havana. When off Cape de Verde, the American captain relinquished his command to Negret. They then proceeded to Gallienos, where they took on board 350 slaves, and landed them safely at the Isle of Pines, where Negret received his bonus of $3,000. From the time they left Cape de Verde they hoisted Spanish colors, and changed the name of the vessel to that of "Buon Amo." They then set sail for Barcelona, where they received a cargo of hides, and, resuming her old name of "Watchman" and the first captain, returned to New York, where Negret left her. On being asked what became of the vessel afterwards, he answered, "I know not—gone back to Lagayra, I suppose."

Negret afterward went to Havana, and started on another voyage of the same kind in the "Tete." Here he received on board a quantity of gold in kegs, to be used in the purchase of slaves. Before he started he received a letter from Philippe St. DeMena, accompanied with a chart of a portion of our northeast coast. The letter proposed a new plan, which was that Negret was to abandon the African project, and bring the vessel to this coast and sink her. The chart designated a spot near Salem where the gold was to be buried. The intention was that Negret should arrive at about a certain time and DeMena would meet him at Pickering's Point. Negret did as he was directed, and, after wrecking the vessel, arrived at the point designated, and was met by DeMena, who had been on the watch for a week.

After Negret's arrest by the Mayor of Salem, DeMena managed to "pull the wool" over the Mayor's eyes, by keeping him away from the Point, until after the supercargo and mate, who had accompanied Negret in the boat, had conveyed the gold in safety away.

In the last examination Negret said—"I do not mean this DeMena—there are other DeMenas in the world—I mean Francisco DeMena. This DeMena is entirely innocent. I only saw this man in Boston, when I was a shipwrecked mariner, and he extended to me a countryman's hospitality and assistance." When asked afterwards why he spoke of Francisco DeMena, he said: "Ah! that was all humbug, to send them a wool-gathering. If DeMena is discharged they will let me go, and then DeMena, who has the gold, will give me my share, and I shall be satisfied."

The result, however, turned out differently than Negret had expected, and now he declares that DeMena has "done" him out of $25,000, and that if ever they meet again there will be a fearful reckoning between them. Shortly after this matter began to be talked of in the papers it was known that DeMena made a deposit in this city of $20,000. Since that time he has closed his business on Washington street, and left the city in a somewhat mysterious manner. Many people are of the belief that he is on his way to Havana. Be that as it may, one thing is certain, and that is, that slave-dealing is clearly visible throughout the whole affair.

The Adriatic.—We are able to state on competent authority that the Collins steamship Adriatic will be ready for sea at a period within three or four weeks of this time. The delay has not arisen from any imperfection of the machinery as originally constructed; but from a disagreement between the builders and the inventor of a "cut-off." The inventor established in a court of law the fact that his invention has been infringed upon in the construction of certain of the connections with the cylinders, and the builders were placed under the necessity of removing those parts or compensating the inventor. They preferred the former course, and have now the work in progress.—N. Y. Courier.

A brother of the distinguished Edmund Burke was found in a reverie after listening to one of his most eloquent speeches in Parliament, and, being asked the cause, replied, "I have been wondering how Ned has contrived to monopolize all the talents of the family; but then I remember, when we were at play he was always at work."

THE PUBLIC MEETING AT THE MERCHANT'S EXCHANGE TO-NIGHT.—Our citizens should not fail to respond to the call of the Southwestern Agricultural Association for a meeting at the Merchant's Exchange to-night. The citizens of Louisville are more than any one else interested in securing to our city the next annual exhibition of the United States Agricultural Association. Its advantages have been heretofore spoken of by us, and are alluded to in the card of Mr. Lawrence Young, published in our paper to-day.

THE FAIR TO-NIGHT.—To add to the attractions of the fair at the Union Engine House, to-night, an elegant gold watch and two mammoth and beautifully ornamented cakes will be raffled for. There will be a chance to profit by benevolence.

KELLER TROUPE.—If one half of the encomium bestowed upon this troupe are true, their exhibitions are really interesting. They have performed in most of the principal cities of the Union, and always with success. They will appear at Mozart Hall, to-night, in a number of tableaux, comprising some of their most magnificent and thrilling pictures. The pantomime of "Famine" is said to be one of the most thrilling representations ever conceived or executed. When Mr. Keller tears the last crust from his aged father, crushing him, that he may enjoy it and madden in the last and fiercest extremity, the picture is represented as sublime and terrible. Our exchanges, where this troupe have performed, speak of them with great praise; and, if we find them to be what they are represented to be, we shall be compelled, as connoisseurs of art and lovers of the beautiful, to do the same.

GREAT ATTRACTION.—The dry goods house of Miller & Tabb, corner of Fourth and Market streets, has been thronged daily for the last week with ladies; all availing themselves of the opportunity now offered by this house of buying dry goods at "prime Eastern cost." TO THE PUBLIC.

THE undersigned, wishing on account of the feeble state of his health to make such change in his business as would afford him a life of more activity, a short time since advertised his stock for sale at cost, but, owing to failure in finding business suitable to his wishes, was compelled to re-sell his stock of JEWELRY, &c., which now, by recent success, is full and complete, and he now offers and will positively sell at COST PRICES, having made arrangements to change his business satisfactorily. To all disposed to doubt his sincerity he would say—call at No. 428 north side of Market, bet. Second and Fifth streets, and see for yourselves.

W. H. CRITTENDEN.
